MISS GOULD'S DEBUT

Elaborate Preparations for Dinner and Cotillion.

WILL BE GIVEN AT PLAZA

Function to Introduce Daughter of George J. Gould Will Be the Most Brilliant New York Has Ever Seen, and Will Surpass the Memorable Bradley-Martin Affair.

New York, Jan. 5.—A new mark for lavishness and splendor is expected to be set for society by the entertainment Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould will give Thursday night at the Hotel Plaza to formally introduce their daughter Marjorie.

Mrs. Gould has engaged the entire first floor of the Plaza and will have the rooms and halls transformed into a garden of roses, orchids, lilies of the valley and ferns.

Two hundred and fifty guests have been invited to the dinner, which will eclipse the famous Bradley-Martin affair of several years ago, but many more will be at the cotillion and supper to follow. Dinner, dance and reception are expected to be the most elaborate ever given in New York.

The walls and ceilings will be entirely hidden from view by the floral decorations, and Nahan Franko, who is in charge of the musical arrangements, will have five orchestras on duty. During the dinner one orchestra will play, and the chief feature of its programme will be "The Marjorie Waltz," which Mr. Franko has composed for the occasion.

Promenade After Dinner.

After dinner there will be a promenade, during which two orchestras will play. Two orchestras will play for the cotillion which will follow and which will end promptly at midnight. This will be followed by an elaborate supper and dance, at which two orchestras will furnish the music. Mr. Franko has devoted great care to arranging the music for the affair.

Miss Marjorie Gould is at Georgian Court, Lakewood, anxiously looking forward to the eventful night which means so much to her. She will remain there until Thursday morning. Her mother has been in the city for some days, staying at the Plaza, and she has been an extremely busy woman, looking after the final arrangements for Miss Marjorie's debut.

Regarding the dinner and ball, she said to a reporter to-day:

"Of course, it is quite true that I am giving a dinner and dance in my daughter's honor, and I hope it will be a success. There will be about 250 guests at dinner and many more than that at the cotillion and supper which follow. There will be a number of the married couples, and besides that, of course, the younger set and debutantes of the season. More than this I cannot say now."

Commemorating the anniversary of the death of Rev. Father Joseph L. McGuire, which occurred January 7, 1908, a solemn mass of requiem will be intoned in the Church of the Holy Comforter at 9:30 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The celebrant of the mass will be Rev. Father Charles E. Boone, of St. Austin's Church, Brookland, who was assistant at Holy Comforter Church during Father McGuire's pastorate.

Solemn services at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening will include prayers for the repose of the soul of the beloved priest and unveiling of the tablet erected to his memory by the congregation of the Church of the Holy Comforter and numerous friends throughout the city.

The memorial tablet is hung to the left of the sanctuary immediately above the communion rail. It records the principal events in the life of one universally beloved.

Following the unveiling and dedication of the tablet, a sermon will be preached by Rev. Father Thomas E. McGuigan, of St. Patrick's Church.

NATIONAL THEATER DARK.

Mrs. Leslie Carter Will Not Open in New Play Until To-morrow.

A further postponement of Mrs. Leslie Carter's appearance at the New National Theater in "Kassara" was announced from the playhouse at a late hour last night. The actress is not willing to let the curtain go up until everything is ready for a finished performance, and to this end the management of the theater is co-operating with her.

The clerks at the box office were kept busy yesterday refunding money to patrons who had procured tickets for last night.

The company directed by Mrs. Carter, remained at the theater until long past midnight last night, and rehearsals will be started at 7 o'clock this morning.

Plans to Show Battle Ship Fleet Every Courtesy at Smyrna.

Constantinople, Jan. 5.—Having learned that some vessels of the American battle-ship fleet will arrive at Smyrna about January 20, the Sultan has decided to seize the occasion to show his cordial feeling toward the United States. Besides sending down several hundred Turkish naval officers to show the visitors around, he means also to send his son, who will bear a message to the American rear admiral, inviting him, as well as a number of his officers, to Constantinople.

ORDER MORE INCLUSIVE.

President's Physical Test for Naval Officers Is Extended.

By direction of President Roosevelt, Secretary of the Navy Newberry has revoked the portion of the order prescribing the physical test for naval officers which limited its application to officers below the rank of rear admiral, and above the rank of lieutenant. It is President Roosevelt's idea to have the order apply to practically every officer on the active list.

Even the midshipmen at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., will have a special physical test to be prescribed by the superintendent of the Academy. The other provisions relating to the length of the horseback ride, bicycle, or walk will remain as originally ordered. The majority of flag officers will have to undergo the ordeal.

The test as prescribed for naval officers is much more severe than that required of army officers.

NEW CHURCH NOW ASSURED

Ingram Memorial Congregation Raises Necessary Amount.

Handsome Church Edifice Will Be Built at Cost of $50,000 Furnished by O. H. Ingram.

Within the year Washington will have at least one new house of worship, now that the money necessary for the erection of the Ingram Memorial Church is complete.

The last contribution was made Monday, and this completes the $22,000, which was to be raised for the edifice. Some time ago O. H. Ingram, a millionaire of Eau Claire, Wis., offered a gift to the Congregational churches of Washington in the form of a new edifice, which should cost $50,000. The gift was to be made when the congregations had raised $20,000 to pay for the site.

Donations were not slow. Large contributions were made by some of the most prominent business men of Washington, including A. M. Lothrop, who was one of the largest contributors. Difficulties were experienced in obtaining titles, as many of the heirs were scattered, some being in Europe and others in various parts of this country.

The offer by Mr. Ingram was made about a year ago, and since that time the church workers have made untiring efforts to procure the money needed for the purchase of the site. Mr. Ingram made the statement that he would turn the money over to the church the moment the site was bought.

The new church will be located at Tenth and Massachusetts avenue northeast, not a great distance from Lincoln Park. The pastor will be Rev. J. W. Frizzell.
